

Damian Harvey

Damian Harvey was born in Blackpool on 3rd April 1967 about 1922 years after the Romans invaded Britain.

Damian started writing stories when he was at Sunderland University. His first stories were horror stories.

Damian has three children, Rachel, Laura and Deanna, it was around the time when his first child Rachel was born that he got the first idea for a children's book.

Damian has written poetry, picture books, books for young readers and re-tellings of the 'Robin Hood' stories. A keen reader himself, Damian knows just how to make his writing keep you hooked on books!
